

Kahuti is a local social network that helps you discover what's happening nearby.

After the demise of Streetlife, thousands of people across the UK are using Kahuti to talk about what's happening in their communities, reunite lost pets with their owners, get recommendations for local tradespeople, discover interesting events and connect with local small businesses.

Everything you see on Kahuti is happening within a few miles of your location so it is hyper-local and very relevant to where you live.
